

Embargoed until Saturday, March 25, 2006

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: March 25, 2006

CONTACT: Fred Lindeberg, 703-861-3116 (cell)

Air Force Memorial Spires Take Shape in Arlington, Virginia

Arlington, Virginia – The United States Air Force Memorial is set to reach another milestone today as the third and final spire base is placed at the memorial promontory, overlooking the Pentagon. The placement of the 50-foot tall, 34-ton stainless steel base section precedes the vertical assembly phase where the tallest of the three spires will reach a height of 270 feet.

Located on Columbia Pike in Arlington, Virginia, on the East side of the Navy Annex the AFM project is scheduled for completion in mid-September 2006 and is being overseen by the Air Force Memorial Foundation (AFMF). The Memorial site offers spectacular and unobstructed views of Washington D.C. from Arlington.

“The Memorial construction will begin to increase more quickly from this point forward, and so the placement of this last spire base is a major milestone,” said Maj Gen (Ret) Edward Grillo, the AFMF’s President. “Area residents will soon see the Air Force Memorial take shape as it begins its graceful ascent into the skyline of Northern Virginia.”

The Memorial’s towering spires were designed by the late James Ingo Freed, an internationally renowned architect of Pei Cobb & Partners. Evocative of the Thunderbird bomb-burst formation, the ambitious design will have a prominent place in the greater Washington skyline and will be a lasting cultural attraction of national significance.

“The Arlington County Board is very excited to see the development of the United States Air Force Memorial here in Northern Virginia,” said Barbara A. Favola, Member, Arlington County Board. “The memorial will play a significant role in the revitalization of the Columbia Pike corridor around the Pentagon and is expected to attract hundreds of thousands of visitors to the area each year.”

The Memorial’s three spires are being constructed by Centex Construction, LLC and are being delivered in approximately 15 segments over the next four months. The Memorial will honor the millions of patriotic men and women who distinguished themselves in the United States Air Force and its predecessors, such as the Army Air Corps. Key elements

March 25, 2006

Press Release: Third Spire Base Arrives

Page 2

of the Memorial include a “runway to glory,” bronze Honor Guard, inscription walls, and a glass “missing man” formation image, all landscaped to create a memorial park and parade ground overlooking the nation’s capital.

Additional information about the Air Force Memorial Foundation and the Air Force Memorial can be found on-line at www.airforcememorial.org.

- Ends -

Note to Editors:

Photo Opportunity: Photographers and videographers are invited to tour the Memorial site to photograph the lift of the third base piece onto its platform on Saturday, March 25th.

Due to Pentagon security regulations, to be provided access to the memorial site all media are required to register in advance. Any interested media should contact Richard Baker at Weber Shandwick on 202-585-2084 or email ribaker@webershandwick.com by 5 p.m. EST today.

Interviews: A limited number of interviews by telephone can be arranged with USAF Maj. Gen. (Ret) Edward Grillo, President, Air Force Memorial Foundation and Barbara A. Favola, Member, Arlington County Board.

To register your interest in visiting the Memorial site or to arrange an interview, please contact:

Richard Baker

Powell Tate|Weber Shandwick

Ph: 202-585-2084

Cell: 202-997-3537

Email: ribaker@webershandwick.com

Fred Lindeberg

Powell Tate|Weber Shandwick

Ph: 202-585-2758

Cell: 703-861-3116

Email: flindeberg@webershandwick.com